

WELCOME TO THE HOMELAND SECURITY PORTAL

Welcome to the Homeland Security Portal

The Homeland Security Portal (HLSP) is an interactive platform and informative arena where industry professionals can register, advertise and obtain publicly available information regarding new products, new technologies, industry news, case studies, investment opportunities and much more.

HLSP is a non-government initiative, aimed at serving the business community of the security and defense industries. Over 2000 professionals have already registered as HLSP members.

Security professionals are turning to The HLSP for up-to-date, and often times, under-the-radar information surrounding this vital and growing industry.

HLSP is a new concept in information gathering and sharing, and has been designed with industry professionals in mind by providing not only global happenings related to this exciting field, but also links pertaining to the latest and greatest in industry-related products and services.

HLSP founded by Meir Amarin, a seasoned security professional who has been intensively involved with several leading international security firms & start-ups, in top executive positions.

{mosmap}

This website is not affiliated with the United States Government or any Federal or State government agency.